

GOVERNMENT OPERATION OF ALL RAILROADS

IS THE AIM OF TWO MILLION
RAILROAD WORKERS SAYS MA-CHINIST SECRETARY

(By United Press)

Washington, Aug. 30.—Government operation of the nation's railroads is the aim of two million organized railroad workers, Secretary Davison of the international association of machinists frankly declared here today in an analysis of the railroad situation made for the United Press.

The transportation law gives the government authority to take over the railroads in case of a strike or other emergency, according to Davison. All railroad workers of the country now are taking a strike vote, he said.

"The managers of the railroads and their aides are trying to force the strike with the hope of making the government guarantee its securities. It is going to be a fight to the finish. The union men want the roads under government operation to end economic depression and unemployment. It may as well come now as later."

Government officials today claim not to be anxious over the possibility of a railroad strike. The railroad unions have taken a strike vote before without a walkout, they pointed out.

Prevent Unauthorized Strike.

Chicago, Aug. 30.—Railroad union leaders exerted every effort today to prevent a local unauthorized strike pending taking of a "strike vote" of two million employees.

Union agents were sent to large railroad centers of the country principally to help get out the vote on the strike question, but it was learned also to keep the men on the job until the ballots are counted. Messages were sent by Bert M. Jewell, head of the railroad department of the American Federation of Labor and by other union leaders, to local union organizations showing signs of restlessness.

Threats of unauthorized strikes were received from several large railroad centers. Although W. J. Lee, of the trainmen, is considered one of the most conservative railroad union leaders, his organization has a larger proportion of "radicals" than any other railroad union. The one big railroad union which headed off the unauthorized strike movement a year ago has organized and found considerable support among trainmen, according to John Grunau, chief of the outlaw organization.

With the strike vote of the four large brotherhoods progressing the vote of five thousand shop workers favoring a strike already in the railroad unions will present a united front within two weeks, according to the prediction of their leaders today.

Strike Vote Will be 6 to 1 for Strike.

St. Paul, Aug. 30.—A strike vote of the railroad workers has been completed here and the result telegraphed to national headquarters of various unions. Local officials of the big four railroad brotherhoods told a representative of the United Press that the vote would average six to one in favor of a strike. They refused to divulge any figures until the nationwide poll is completed and announced.

Believed Canadian Steamer Has Sunk

(By United Press)

Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 30.—"General opinion is that the 'Importe' has foundered," read a radiogram received here today from Captain Wingale of the Steamer "Canadian Winner" which has searched the sea for the steamer "Canadian Importer."

Receipt of the radiogram caused the merchant marine officials of the Canadian government to practically abandon hope of finding the vessel. Fear that Captain Bissett, of the Importer, and the 32 men who remained aboard with him may have gone down with the ship, was expressed.

ANOTHER BIG COAL VEIN IN ILLINOIS

(By United Press)

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 30.—Illinois, one of the largest coal producing states in the United States, is to have another mine.

A five and one-half foot vein of coal was discovered at a depth of 150 feet at Carpenter, Ill., and the Mt. Olive and Staunton Coal Company of St. Louis plans to open another big mine in that neighborhood. The company, it was said, has taken options on a tract of 5,000 acres. Ten or twelve other holes will be sunk soon.

Officers Trying to Capture Wife Slayer

(By United Press)

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 30.—Police and deputy sheriffs were today watching the home of a foreigner here while others were scouring the country for a trace of George Medved, wife slayer, and desperate character, who escaped from the state prison at Waukegan. The home of the foreigner is being watched by detectives as police believe Medved may attempt to harm the foreigner against whom he has a grudge. Medved shot and killed his wife after she covered in a corner of her home on March 16, 1918.

JOHN SKELTON WILLIAMS TO WORK FOR N. P. LEAGUE

(By United Press)

Fargo, N. D., Aug. 30.—John Skelton Williams will aid the nonpartisan league in the fight against the recall of Governor Frazier and other officials this fall.

This was announced by league officials. Independents of the state are seeking to oust Governor Frazier, Attorney General Wm. Lemke and Commissioner of Agriculture and Labor John N. Hagen. Williams formerly was comptroller of currency.

Federal Investigation of Ku Klux Klan Started

(By United Press)

Chicago, Aug. 30.—Federal investigation of the activities of the Ku Klux Klan was started today by John C. Cline, acting United States district attorney. Cline's action started following receipt of a number of complaints against the organization of the "invisible empire" he said.

The investigation, Cline announced, would be based on these claims:

That the Ku Klux Klan is an absolute monarchy opposed to public policy.

That $10 a year is collected from each member without an accounting. That the charge of $2.50 for regalia that costs about $2.50 are made and the acceptance of this money brings the organization in the class of a corporation operating for profit.

30,000 RIOT IN GERMANY, THREE KILLED IN CRASH

COMMUNISTS ASSEMBLE FROM ALL PARTS OF BERLIN TO DEMONSTRATE AGAINST MONARCHISTS

Berlin, Aug. 30.—Two cadets, believed to be the assassins of Matthias Erzberger, were arrested today.

Berlin, Aug. 29.—Despite an order by the police prohibiting the meeting, 30,000 communists and independent socialists from all parts of Berlin yesterday thronged the suburb of Potsdam, the center of Germany's old royal life, with banners demonstrating against the reactionaries.

Many people in Germany have been angered by the rantings of the monarchists against the government, following the assassination of Matthias Erzberger and yesterday's meeting was a warning to the prokaiser junkers of the Fatherland.

The royalists, celebrating the victory of Tennenburg had conducted a small parade in Potsdam when the demonstrators arrived, prepared to fight in big style.

The leaders of the demonstration tried to induce the demonstrators to respect the police and keep calm, but when the green police asked the paraders to disperse, a policeman who was standing under the historical tree where Frederick the Great used to settle the quarrels of his subjects, was disarmed and trampled on. Then the police fired, killing two and wounding several.

The leaders promised to do everything in their power to bring the demonstrators quietly home, but they were slow in gaining control of the masses which were highly excited.

Numerous monarchists were adorning the houses in Potsdam and the demonstrators tried to tear down the flags, leading to numerous fist fights. The demonstrators finally paraded the streets of Potsdam and boarded trains for Berlin in good order.

"Who is next?" is the question being asked by all of Germany following the assassination of Erzberger. Nervousness is prevailing throughout the country and fear is expressed that other leaders may fall victims to assassins' bullets.

Comment in the radical, democratic socialist and clerical press is exceedingly bitter, certain papers holding the reactionary nationalist press as directly responsible for the crime.

The Germania, the leading organ of the Catholic party, of which Herr Erzberger was the most prominent member, in an editorial commenting on the assassination says the dead leader was the victim of nationalist agitation.

Freiheit, the organ of the independent socialists, opened charges that Dr. Helfferich and President von Kahr of Bavaria, the leaders of the nationalist party and the reactionary press were directly responsible for the murder.

Seven Cent Fare Is Ordered In St. Paul

(By United Press)

St. Paul, Aug. 30.—A seven cent cash street car fare will be effective in St. Paul and Minneapolis Thursday, unless the court grants a reprieve. The state railroad and warehouse commission today ordered a one cent increase from the present six cent fare in St. Paul. It had previously granted a seven cent fare in Minneapolis. Duluth was granted a six cent fare late yesterday. St. Paul and Minneapolis officials plan to file proceedings in district court today to block the fare increase.

Motorcyclists Injured By Clash With Autos

Rochester, Minn., Aug. 30.—One motorcyclist was fatally injured and another seriously hurt by careless motorists near here last night.

Ray Shapp was struck by an automobile near Kasson and died in a hospital here today. Thomas Montgomery was struck by another automobile and is in a serious condition. In both cases the automobiles failed to stop and left their victims helpless in the road. The automobile club is investigating, and if found, the motorists will be prosecuted.

THREE CHILDREN BURNED TO DEATH

(By United Press)

Lublin, Wis., Aug. 30.—Three children of Tom Kosciely, living on a farm a few miles from here were burned to death when a barn in which they were sleeping was destroyed by fire, according to word brought here today. The sheriff left for Medford early today to investigate. The children, two boys and one girl, were eight, 13 and 14 years of age. The origin of the fire is not known. According to reports the flames spread so rapidly that the children were trapped and their charred bodies were found in the ruins this morning.

PITCHED BATTLE IN MEXICAN TOWN

MAYOR ORDERED SALOONS AND GAMBLING HOUSES CLOSED—
BATTLE RESULTED

(United Press)

San Luis, Sonora, Mexico, Aug. 30.—Commissioner M. Reyes, of San Luis, was shot to death and numerous civilians were injured in a pitched battle between civilians and military officers here early today.

Reyes died at Yuma, Arizona, after he had been rushed across the border to a hospital.

The battle started on an order issued by Mayor Aranza to close all saloons and gambling houses. Commissioner Reyes refused to enforce the order. Civil officers and federal agents clashed. Further trouble is feared. The mayor telegraphed President Obregon. San Luis is twelve miles from Somerton, Arizona, close to the international line.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS IS IN SESSION TODAY

WORLD COURT HAS BEEN DEFIN-ITELY DECIDED ON—ELIHU
ROOT CERTAIN OF SEAT

(By United Press)

Geneva, Aug. 30.—The league of nations council today continued procedure in its settlement of the Silesian question.

Meanwhile members of the council declared that the forthcoming general assembly of the league scheduled for Sept. 15 has been completely overshadowed by the Washington disarmament conference.

The world court has been definitely decided upon. Ninety candidates have applied for nomination for seats on this international court of justice. Among them is Elihu Root, whose election is considered certain.

Boy Bandits Attempt To Rob Paymaster

(By United Press)

Minneapolis, Aug. 30.—The automobiles used by three boy bandits in an attempt to hold up a messenger of the Metropolitan Milk company here yesterday, was found abandoned in the downtown district last night. It was owned by E. J. Williams who reported it stolen. The trio fired several shots at F. B. Clark who carried $10,000 of the milk company's payroll. They apparently became frightened and fled. There was no clue to their identity today.

Action Against "Movie Trust" Is Decided On

The complaint, it was learned, will charge violation of section seven of the federal trade act and section five of the anti-trust law.

Contract Let For Building Bridge at Pillager

(By United Press)

St. Paul, Aug. 30.—Close bids featured contract lettings by Chas. M. Babcock, state highway commissioner, today. Contracts for building approximately $27,000 worth of new bridges and culverts on Minnesota trunk highways in four localities were opened. The largest job was awarded to the Guaranty Construction company of Minneapolis on a bid of $17,944 against $17,945 bid by the M. A. Adams company, also of Minneapolis. It is for a 180 foot steel bridge on trunk highway No. 2 between Brainerd and Pillager.

Store Looting Gang Dis- covered at Devils Lake

(By United Press)

Devils Lake, N. D., Aug. 30.—Devils Lake was headquarters of a big store breaking gang, evidence revealed today. Loot stolen from stores at Larimore, Tolna, Hampden and Bartlett was recovered on the farm of Wm. Haggerty near Tokio. Haggerty is said to have confessed he drove the car for the gang of robbers. "Goldie" Nolan, alleged leader of the gang, was arrested here and taken to Grand Forks. He was arraigned on charges of stealing $2,000 worth of diamonds from a store at Larimore. The diamonds were not recovered.

SIX CENT FARE IN DULUTH AUTHORIZED

(By United Press)

St. Paul, Aug. 30.—The Minnesota railway and warehouse commission has authorized a six cent street car fare in Duluth following an application for a seven cent fare there. The fare has been five cents. The commission was expected to announce a seven cent fare in St. Paul today. Minneapolis was recently given a seven cent fare.

IRISH REPUBLICAN ARMY IS PREPARED FOR NEW WARFARE

By CHARLES McCANN,
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

Dublin, (By Mail).—No matter what happens in Ireland as the result of the presence peace negotiations, the Irish Republican Army will be prepared for it.

Soldiers of the army are convinced that the I. R. A. has beaten the Crown forces in Ireland. Peace negotiations were instituted by the British government after over a year of desperate guerrilla warfare. The Irish leaders see in that fact victory in their fight for Irish independence.

From various Republican army leaders in Dublin, the United Press has gained information, much of it confidential, which shows that the army will be prepared to resume the fight immediately if peace efforts fail. The various units of the army are just as well co-ordinated today as they were before the truce started. Though all of the men are on leave except a few engaged with officers in liaison work, they are not being permitted to forget the fact that so far there is only a truce, not a permanent peace, in Ireland. They do not want a resumption of war; but they will be perfectly prepared for it.

According to army leaders, the men would be ready to resume the fight on a day's notice. To question whether an army necessarily so loosely organized would not deteriorate during a truce, they reply that the men of the I. R. A. pay a membership contribution in order to belong to it; that they are as ready now to fight as they were a month or six months ago; that they are fighting a victorious fight for their own country on their own soil, and that they will not stop fighting until their cause is won or the I. R. A. is wiped out.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS IS IN SESSION TODAY

WORLD COURT HAS BEEN DEFIN-
ITELY DECIDED ON—ELIHU
ROOT CERTAIN OF SEAT

(By United Press)

Geneva, Aug. 30.—The league of nations council today continued procedure in its settlement of the Silesian question.

Meanwhile members of the council declared that the forthcoming general assembly of the league scheduled for Sept. 15 has been completely overshadowed by the Washington disarmament conference.

The world court has been definitely decided upon. Ninety candidates have applied for nomination for seats on this international court of justice. Among them is Elihu Root, whose election is considered certain.

Boy Bandits Attempt To Rob Paymaster

(By United Press)

Minneapolis, Aug. 30.—The automobiles used by three boy bandits in an attempt to hold up a messenger of the Metropolitan Milk company here yesterday, was found abandoned in the downtown district last night. It was owned by E. J. Williams who reported it stolen. The trio fired several shots at F. B. Clark who carried $10,000 of the milk company's payroll. They apparently became frightened and fled. There was no clue to their identity today.

Action Against "Movie Trust" Is Decided On

(By United Press)

Washington, Aug. 30.—Action against an alleged "movie trust" has been decided upon by the federal trade commission, it was learned authoritatively today.

Papers will be issued tomorrow citing the Famous Players-Lasky Company, for alleged violation of the federal trade act prohibiting unfair practice under the anti-trust law. The complaint, it was learned, will charge violation of section seven of the federal trade act and section five of the anti-trust law.

Contract Let For Building Bridge at Pillager

(By United Press)

St. Paul, Aug. 30.—Close bids featured contract lettings by Chas. M. Babcock, state highway commissioner, today. Contracts for building approximately $27,000 worth of new bridges and culverts on Minnesota trunk highways in four localities were opened. The largest job was awarded to the Guaranty Construction company of Minneapolis on a bid of $17,944 against $17,945 bid by the M. A. Adams company, also of Minneapolis. It is for a 180 foot steel bridge on trunk highway No. 2 between Brainerd and Pillager.

Store Looting Gang Dis- covered at Devils Lake

(By United Press)

Devils Lake, N. D., Aug. 30.—Devils Lake was headquarters of a big store breaking gang, evidence revealed today. Loot stolen from stores at Larimore, Tolna, Hampden and Bartlett was recovered on the farm of Wm. Haggerty near Tokio. Haggerty is said to have confessed he drove the car for the gang of robbers. "Goldie" Nolan, alleged leader of the gang, was arrested here and taken to Grand Forks. He was arraigned on charges of stealing $2,000 worth of diamonds from a store at Larimore. The diamonds were not recovered.

SIX CENT FARE IN DULUTH AUTHORIZED

(By United Press)

St. Paul, Aug. 30.—The Minnesota railway and warehouse commission has authorized a six cent street car fare in Duluth following an application for a seven cent fare there. The fare has been five cents. The commission was expected to announce a seven cent fare in St. Paul today. Minneapolis was recently given a seven cent fare.

JOSEPH FISHER

The 30 men who make coffee for the 1,400 officers and men of the U. S. S. Mexico hold the official record of being the neatest and cleanest mess crew in the entire Pacific fleet. And the reason is: Joseph Fisher, boat-swain's mate (first class) U. S. N. Fisher is about half the size of the men under his command, but when he speaks they jump. For Joseph is lightweight champion boxer of the United States navy.

IRISH REPUBLICAN ARMY IS PREPARED FOR NEW WARFARE

By CHARLES McCANN,
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

Dublin, (By Mail).—No matter what happens in Ireland as the result of the presence peace negotiations, the Irish Republican Army will be prepared for it.

Soldiers of the army are convinced that the I. R. A. has beaten the Crown forces in Ireland. Peace negotiations were instituted by the British government after over a year of desperate guerrilla warfare. The Irish leaders see in that fact victory in their fight for Irish independence.

From various Republican army leaders in Dublin, the United Press has gained information, much of it confidential, which shows that the army will be prepared to resume the fight immediately if peace efforts fail. The various units of the army are just as well co-ordinated today as they were before the truce started. Though all of the men are on leave except a few engaged with officers in liaison work, they are not being permitted to forget the fact that so far there is only a truce, not a permanent peace, in Ireland. They do not want a resumption of war; but they will be perfectly prepared for it.

According to army leaders, the men would be ready to resume the fight on a day's notice. To question whether an army necessarily so loosely organized would not deteriorate during a truce, they reply that the men of the I. R. A. pay a membership contribution in order to belong to it; that they are as ready now to fight as they were a month or six months ago; that they are fighting a victorious fight for their own country on their own soil, and that they will not stop fighting until their cause is won or the I. R. A. is wiped out.

700 INDIA NATIVES KILLED BY BRITISH TROOPS IN BATTLE

Calcutta, India, Aug. 30.—Nearly 700 members of the insurgent bands which have been creating disorders near here, have been killed in fights with British forces sent to quell the uprising. Several Europeans have been killed, while 70 men of the Leinster regiment and 17 native policemen are missing. Many Hindus have been massacred.

DEPOSITS OF GOLD REPORTED FOUND IN NORTHERN MINN.

Duluth, Aug. 30.—Gold, deposited in unknown quantities along the shores of Rainy Lake on the northern border of Minnesota has been discovered, according to a letter received by the Duluth Herald from an official of Koochiching county, where the deposits are said to exist.

SITUATION IN THE W. VA. MINE WAR IS MOST SERIOUS

SAID ASST. SECRETARY OF WAR, WHO INDICATED FEDERAL TROOPS WILL BE SENT

Washington, Aug. 30.—Latest reports from the Virginia mine war area indicated the situation is "most serious," Assistant Secretary of War Wainwright, said today.

He indicated that action by the federal government might be taken during the day.

Secretary of War Weeks immediately after a war department conference, took up with President Harding the question of sending federal troops to quell disturbances in West Virginia.

President Declines to Mix In.

Washington, Aug. 30.—President Harding today refused to grant the request of John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, that a conference of the mine workers and operators in the West Virginia fields be considered in the hope of ending the trouble.

Armed Miners Invade Logan County.

Madison, W. Va., Aug. 30.—Bands of armed miners are moving at intervals toward Logan county determined to carry out their intended "invasion," County Prosecutor Mullens reported to state authorities today.

Sending of Troops Up to President.

Washington, Aug. 30.—Decision on the urgent request of Governor Morgan of West Virginia for federal troops to take charge of the situation developed from the threat of several thousand armed coal miners to march on Logan and Mingo counties will be reached this afternoon, Secretary of War Weeks said today. Weeks made the announcement after a conference with President Harding.

Another conference will be held at 2 o'clock when it is hoped the report from an army officer now on the scene of the trouble will help President Harding decide on whether to send troops.

Miners Reported Forming for Battle.

Madison, W. Va., Aug. 30.—Miners were reported forming in a battle line near Blair, Logan county, today preparatory to a march "on the ridge" that separates them from the camp of deputies and state police. More than 3,000 miners are said to have been mobilized for the advance. During the night and early today bands of miners heavily armed from the Kanawha and Coal river fields passed through this town on their way to the place of assembly, County Prosecutor Mullens reported to state authorities. Re-enforcements of union miners were said to be on their way from Ohio and Illinois to join the camps of invaders.

Alleged Bootleggers Fire on Officers

International Falls, Minn., Aug. 30.—Three men and one woman fired upon officers from a launch near here Sunday and escaped with what officers believe to be a cargo of liquor. They were about to land on the American side when George Powers, game warden, spotted them and notified customs officer N. H. Nelson, and they boarded the boat. As they stepped ashore again the occupants reversed the boat and opened fire on the officers. They escaped in the darkness.

Motor Bandits Rob Clothing Store

Zumbrota, Minn., Aug. 30.—Seventy-five suits of clothing and other merchandise valued at $3,500 was stolen from a general store at Wanamingo seven miles west of here last night. The bandits escaped in autos toward the twin cities.

Hungary Signs Treaty of Peace With America

Budapest, Aug. 30.—The treaty of peace between Hungary and the United States, on which negotiations have been proceeding for some, was to be signed here late yesterday by Foreign Minister Banffy for Hungary and by Grant Smithy, United States commissioner, for America.

Exclusive Club Stages

Matches for Gentlemen

New York, Aug. 29.—From the roughest and toughest boxing ring to the most exclusive boxing club in London—and for that matter in all the world—there is but a five-minute walk.

Surrounded by slums, in the heart of Covent Garden market, reeking with the smells of a myriad different vegetables, stands a great, red Early Victorian Building—the National Sporting Club of England.

The "N. S. C." as it is popularly known, is an anomaly in clubs. Its membership is exclusive. Half the aristocracy of the British Isles belong to it; indeed, you may count pages out of Burke's Peerage there on any "big fight" night.

The N. S. C. is a club. That is to say, it has its dining rooms, its library, its smoking room, its billiard tables and its bedrooms—just like any other big club in the clubland of London up West in Pall Mall.

Sitting there at dinner on the night of a big contest you may rub shoulders with men whose names upon doors all over Europe. After dinner, when the liquors have loosened the formalities of club conversations the great ones adjourn to a wonderful theater in the back of the club. It looks like a small opera, until one notices the grim roped square under hissing arc lights in the middle of the floor.

Along one side of the ring sit a row of elderly gentlemen in full evening dress. They are the judges and the official timekeepers. The man sitting in the middle of the row, tall and martial, is Mr. "Johnny" Douglas, one time cricket captain of England. He is white-haired and spectacled.

The members joke with him and tell him he is too blind to judge a contest. Nevertheless, the boxers never dare dispute his decisions. By the side of the old man sit his two sons,
J. W. H. Douglas—strangely enough, captain for England's cricket team today—and his brother, "Pickles," the finest amateur boxer England possesses.

At a fight at the N. S. C. everything is orderly, quiet, circumspect. If by any chance an aristocratic member should so far forget himself as to cheer a good "wallop," he would be called to order by "Johnny." The old man will hold up his hand and stop the contest for a moment. "Gentlemen," he will say, "may I remind you that this is the home of British Sportsmanship. Let us please give the boxers a chance, and refrain from unseemly outbursts." Then the old gentleman turns to the boxers and takes his cigar from his mouth. "Box on," says he.

Exclusive Club Stages

Matches for Gentlemen

New York, Aug. 29.—From the roughest and toughest boxing ring to the most exclusive boxing club in London—and for that matter in all the world—there is but a five-minute walk.

Surrounded by slums, in the heart of Covent Garden market, reeking with the smells of a myriad different vegetables, stands a great, red Early Victorian Building—the National Sporting Club of England.

The "N. S. C." as it is popularly known, is an anomaly in clubs. Its membership is exclusive. Half the aristocracy of the British Isles belong to it; indeed, you may count pages out of Burke's Peerage there on any "big fight" night.

The N. S. C. is a club. That is to say, it has its dining rooms, its library, its smoking room, its billiard tables and its bedrooms—just like any other big club in the clubland of London up West in Pall Mall.

Sitting there at dinner on the night of a big contest you may rub shoulders with men whose names upon doors all over Europe. After dinner, when the liquors have loosened the formalities of club conversations the great ones adjourn to a wonderful theater in the back of the club. It looks like a small opera, until one notices the grim roped square under hissing arc lights in the middle of the floor.

Along one side of the ring sit a row of elderly gentlemen in full evening dress. They are the judges and the official timekeepers. The man sitting in the middle of the row, tall and martial, is Mr. "Johnny" Douglas, one time cricket captain of England. He is white-haired and spectacled.

The members joke with him and tell him he is too blind to judge a contest. Nevertheless, the boxers never dare dispute his decisions. By the side of the old man sit his two sons, J. W. H. Douglas—strangely enough, captain for England's cricket team today—and his brother, "Pickles," the finest amateur boxer England possesses.

At a fight at the N. S. C. everything is orderly, quiet, circumspect. If by any chance an aristocratic member should so far forget himself as to cheer a good "wallop," he would be called to order by "Johnny." The old man will hold up his hand and stop the contest for a moment. "Gentlemen," he will say, "may I remind you that this is the home of British Sportsmanship. Let us please give the boxers a chance, and refrain from unseemly outbursts." Then the old gentleman turns to the boxers and takes his cigar from his mouth. "Box on," says he.

100 CO-OPERATIVE CREAMERIES UNITE

STATEWIDE SERVICE AGENCY GETS MEMBERS PRODUCING 15,000 POUNDS OF BUTTER

More than 100 co-operative creameries have joined the central marketing agency which is being organized throughout the state by Minnesota dairymen, the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation announced today.

The co-operative creamery association is the second centralized marketing enterprise to be launched in the state this year. The first was the Central Co-operative Commission association, which is now handling livestock on the South St. Paul market for 300 co-operative shipping associations in Minnesota, Wisconsin and the Dakotas, according to farm bureau officers.

The first co-operative shipping unit formed by Minnesota co-operative creameries has voted to join the statewide organization, John Brandt of Litchfield, secretary of the Minnesota Co-operative Creameries association, said today in St. Paul. This shipping unit is made up of 21 creameries in Meeker, Wright and Kandiyohi counties. It began operations in April this year, with 13 creameries as members, and already has shipped 45 carloads of butter to terminal markets, Mr. Brandt said.

The 100 Minnesota creameries now united in a state association produce more than 15,000,000 pounds of butter annually, H. B. Nickerson, president of the organization, said today.

The state creameries association plans to improve the market for Minnesota co-operative creamery butter by placing representatives on the principal eastern markets to superintend sales, and by a national advertising campaign. It also will attempt to save money for the producers by arranging shipments in carload lots at lower freight rates, and by purchasing supplies for the creameries in wholesale lots, Mr. Nickerson said.

LOW SQUARE HEEL

New Note in Stylish Footwear for the Street.

Young Girls Are Wearing This Model for Dancing, in Satin to Match Gowns.

A new note in footwear is a low square leather heel for street wear, which big city shops report as a "best seller." This fashion is said to be inspired by the low-heeled slippers worn in a successful musical comedy. The young girls are wearing the low-heeled model for dancing, in satin to match their gowns; a touch of the Victorian, in harmony with wider and beruffled skirts.

The favorite for street wear seems to be this low-heeled model in patent leather. The fringed tongue, which originally was used only on brogues, has been adopted for afternoon and evening wear. White kid oxfords with French heels are shown with the fringed tongue, and the latest adaptation is seen in a black satin slipper with a solid black satin piece, the ends of which are fringed with cut steel beads. These are items that are well to remember when one is shopping for one's midsummer and fall footwear.

There has been a new feature in the decoration of hand bags, in the use of the seed bead in the making of the solid beaded bag. But used with this is the large nailhead bead.

From abroad come interesting ideas of the exploitation of the black and white vogue in the neckwear field for the coming season. Organdie is still the chief fabric medium, and touches of black are given by means of black organdie appliques usually in straight narrow bands as often as edging, and by chainstitch embroidery in black.

Gauntlets continue to be in the glove field, these being shown in plain styles as well as in a wide range of fancies.

Stiff cuff gauntlets being shown by some of the importers do not enjoy the same popularity as the soft cuff variety.

A Puncture.

FOR WOMEN SHOPPERS ONLY

Buenos Aires. (By Mail to United Press.)—Hundreds of imported millinery Creations, covered with bird of paradise plumage and not a single bone hairpin, such as one buys at 25 cents a card in the United States!

Bolt after bolt of gorgeously figured silks from Paris designers and not a piece of plain moire or poplin! Case upon case filled with filmy evening gowns and not a single plain silk or velvet skirt!

Row after row of jeweled satin slippers and not a single sport or street shoe!

Such are the women's merchandise stores of Buenos Aires.

The member of the foreign colony, who would shop on the same scale as in another land, finds that, unless she has cultivated the Argentine taste in feminine apparel, all the massive department stores in the big city could never supply even her most simple needs in dress accessories.

There is one underlying explanation for the general lack of ready-to-wear garments and that is that the local woman prefers to hire her own dressmaker, select a picture from a French or English fashion sheet and instruct the woman to make this up. The greater majority of the ready-made goods are in blacks, to be donned hastily as mourning.

In striking contrast to the black frocks are those for children in the very brightest colors, seemingly chosen to counterbalance the long periods of mourning the little girl will go through later in life. The most brilliant blues, carmines and rose and greens go into tiny coats, generally with a hatto match. Often the tiny miss will be completely clad in a garment knitted from bright tinted yarns and trimmed with a bit of white marabout or fur at wrists and collar, if it is during the cold season. Much of this type of clothing comes from Germany.

Quite contrary to the general impression one gets in a lingerie department of a store in the United States is that which one gleams from a visit to such a place here. Instead of the heaps of dainty white and pale pink, lace-trimmed undergarments—frilly things that even the uninitiated have become acquainted with on the stage—the lingerie is of the strictly buttoned-up-to-the-neck type; that, instead of delicate pinks, grays and muddy cream are the predominant color notes. The Argentine woman is discreetly modest, unless she has come in contact with Europe or North America. Her taste runs to heavy woollens and opaque materials. She generally is seen in street dresses of serge and silk, made along straight, simple lines and worn with magnificent furs and coats.

The shopper finally finds herself in an English store, where all goods have been imported from Great Britain, but the clerks speak nothing but Spanish. Each bundle of knitwear, for instance, is wrapped in paper and stowed away on shelves. Whenever one package is opened, it must be tied again with a heavy cord before the next can be taken down, all this going on while the customer frets as the hands of the clock go round.

At another place my lady shops for a hat. In an establishment copied after French shops, equipped with gold braid cushions, oval art mirrors, shaded standing lamps and imitation mannequins for hat-racks, a fashionably-clad miss removes one cover after another from dozens of boxes.

She must go through all of these containers in quest of the brown hat you have inquired for, because she has no idea in which of the boxes it has been stowed.

Merchandising methods are hard to understand. A woman enters a store in quest of a card of pearl buttons. She has them in hand and her cash is ready, but the clerks are endlessly rummaging through shelves in quest of missing goods in a most leisurely fashion. In another store, Buttons, the gilt braid bellhop who opens the door, hustles the shopper off to the ribbon department. The madame wishes one metre of black velvet baby ribbon to refurnish a blouse. Three señoritas are ready to wait on her, but all deplore the fact that they are unable to sell her anything less than a five-metre card and suggest that she trim five blouses with the trimming. It's a hard life.

London Notes

London, Aug. 30.—One reason why the British government doesn't like prohibition lies in the fact that, according to figures just published, excise duty no beer for the year ending March 31, brought $616,970,000 rolling into its coffers. The number of dutiable barrels was 26,731,096.

London, Aug. 30.—All doubts as to the exact date of the next world war have been set at rest by Mr. J. Ramsey Macdonald, prominent socialist and pronounced pacifist, who declared in an interview that "the world in 1950 and 2,000 will have to go through the same horrors as in 1914."

Shoots Wife, Then Suicides

(By United Press)

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 30.—David Smart shot his wife to death and committed suicide in a hotel lobby here last night. Letters addressed to Smart by another woman were found inside of Mrs. Smart's waist, police said. A crowd in the hotel lobby was thrown into panic.

The Smart's had come from Orrick, Mo., to put their daughter in school.

True.

100 CO-OPERATIVE CREAMERIES UNITE

STATEWIDE SERVICE AGENCY GETS MEMBERS PRODUCING 15,000 POUNDS OF BUTTER

More than 100 co-operative creameries have joined the central marketing agency which is being organized throughout the state by Minnesota dairymen, the Minnesota Farm Bureau federation announced today.

The co-operative creamery association is the second centralized marketing enterprise to be launched in the state this year. The first was the Central Co-operative Commission association, which is now handling livestock on the South St. Paul market for 300 co-operative shipping associations in Minnesota, Wisconsin and the Dakotas, according to farm bureau officers.

The first co-operative shipping unit formed by Minnesota co-operative creameries has voted to join the statewide organization, John Brandt of Litchfield, secretary of the Minnesota Co-operative Creameries association, said today in St. Paul. This shipping unit is made up of 21 creameries in Meeker, Wright and Kandiyohi counties. It began operations in April this year, with 13 creameries as members, and already has shipped 45 carloads of butter to terminal markets, Mr. Brandt said.

The 100 Minnesota creameries now united in a state association produce more than 15,000,000 pounds of butter annually, H. B. Nickerson, president of the organization, said today.

The state creameries association plans to improve the market for Minnesota co-operative creamery butter by placing representatives on the principal eastern markets to superintend sales, and by a national advertising campaign. It also will attempt to save money for the producers by arranging shipments in carload lots at lower freight rates, and by purchasing supplies for the creameries in wholesale lots, Mr. Nickerson said.

LOW SQUARE HEEL

New Note in Stylish Footwear for the Street.

Young Girls Are Wearing This Model for Dancing, in Satin to Match Gowns.

A new note in footwear is a low square leather heel for street wear, which big city shops report as a "best seller." This fashion is said to be inspired by the low-heeled slippers worn in a successful musical comedy. The young girls are wearing the low-heeled model for dancing, in satin to match their gowns; a touch of the Victorian, in harmony with wider and burred skirts.

The favorite for street wear seems to be this low-heeled model in patent leather. The fringed tongue, which originally was used only on brogues, has been adopted for afternoon and evening wear. White kid oxfords with French heels are shown with the fringed tongue, and the latest adaptation is seen in a black satin slipper with a solid black satin piece, toe ends of which are fringed with cut steel beads. These are items that are well to remember when one is shopping for one's midsummer and fall footwear.

There has been a new feature in the decoration of hand bags, in the use of the seed bead in the making of the solid beaded bag. But used with this is the large nailhead bead.

From abroad come interesting ideas of the exploitation of the black and white vogue in the neckwear field for the coming season. Organdie is still the chief fabric medium, and touches of black are given by means of black organdie appliques usually in straight narrow bands as often as edging, and by chainstitch embroidery in black.

Gauntlets continue to be in the glove field, these being shown in plain styles as well as in a wide range of fancies.

Stiff cuff gauntlets being shown by some of the importers do not enjoy the same popularity as the soft cuff variety.

FOR WOMEN SHOPPERS ONLY

Buenos Aires. (By Mail to United Press).—Hundreds of imported millinery Creations, covered with bird of paradise plumage and not a single bone hairpin, such as one buys at 25 cents a card in the United States!

Bolt after bolt of gorgeously figured silks from Paris designers and not a piece of plain moire or poplin! Case upon case filled with filmy evening gowns and not a single plain silk or velvet skirt!

Row after row of jeweled satin slippers and not a single sport or street shoe!

Such are the women's merchandise stores of Buenos Aires.

The member of the foreign colony, who would shop on the same scale as in another land, finds that, unless she has cultivated the Argentine taste in feminine apparel, all the massive department stores in the big city could never supply even her most simple needs in dress accessories.

There is one underlying explanation for the general lack of ready-to-wear garments and that is that the local woman prefers to hire her own dressmaker, select a picture from a French or English fashion sheet and instruct the woman to make this up. The greater majority of the ready-made goods are in blacks, to be donned hastily as mourning.

In striking contrast to the black frocks are those for children in the very brightest colors, seemingly chosen to counterbalance the long periods of mourning the little girl will go through later in life. The most brilliant blues, carmines and rose and greens go into tiny coats, generally with a hatto match. Often the tiny miss will be completely clad in a garment knitted from bright tinted yarns and trimmed with a bit of white marabout or fur at wrists and collar, if it is during the cold season. Much of this type of clothing comes from Germany.

Quite contrary to the general impression one gets in a lingerie department of a store in the United States is that which one gleams from a visit to such a place here. Instead of the heaps of dainty white and pale pink, lace-trimmed undergarments—trilly things that even the uninitiated have become acquainted with on the stage the lingerie is of the strictly buttoned-up-to-the-neck type; that, instead of delicate pinks, grays and muddy cream are the predominant color notes. The Argentine woman is discreetly modest, unless she has come in contact with Europe or North America. Her taste runs to heavy woollen and opaque materials. She generally is seen in street dresses of serge and silk, made along straight, simple lines and worn with magnificent furs and coats.

The shopper finally finds herself in an English store, where all goods have been imported from Great Britain, but the clerks speak nothing but Spanish. Each bundle of knitwear, for instance, is wrapped in paper and stowed away on shelves. Whenever one package is opened, it must be tied again with a heavy cord before the next can be taken down, all this going on while the customer frets as the hands of the clock go round.

At another place my lady shops for a hat. In an establishment copied after French shops, equipped with gold braid cushions, oval art mirrors, shaded standing lamps and imitation mannequins for hat-racks, a fashionably-clad miss removes one cover after another from dozens of boxes.

She must go through all of these containers in quest of the brown hat you have inquired for, because she has no idea in which of the boxes it has been stowed.

Merchandising methods are hard to understand. A woman enters a store in quest of a card of pearl buttons. She has them in hand and her cash is ready, but the clerks are endlessly rummaging through shelves in quest of missing goods in a most leisurely fashion. In another store, Buttons, the gilt braid bellhop who opens the door, hustles the shopper off to the ribbon department. The madame wishes one metre of black velvet baby ribbon to refurnish a blouse. Three señoritas are ready to wait on her, but all deplore the fact that they are unable to sell her anything less than a five-metre card and suggest that she trim five blouses with the trimming. It's a hard life.

London Notes

London, Aug. 30.—One reason why the British government doesn't like prohibition lies in the fact that, according to figures just published, excise duty no beer for the year ending March 31, brought $616,970,000 rolling into its coffers. The number of dutiable barrels was 26,731,096.

London, Aug. 30.—All doubts as to the exact date of the next world war have been set at rest by Mr. J. Ramsey Macdonald, prominent socialist and pronounced pacifist, who declared in an interview that "the world in 1950 and 2,000 will have to go through the same horrors as in 1914."

Shoots Wife, Then Suicides

(By United Press)

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 30.—David Smart shot his wife to death and committed suicide in a hotel lobby here last night. Letters addressed to Smart by another woman were found inside of Mrs. Smart's waist, police said. A crowd in the hotel lobby was thrown into panic.

The Smart's had come from Orrick, Mo., to put their daughter in school.

MIGHTY GOOD ADVICE

When the present period of business depression, post-war readjustment or whatever you want to call it, struck the country there were many residents of the Ninth Federal Reserve District, who found themselves in a pretty tight fix. No jobs, no market for farm produce, no reduction in living costs. This looked to be temporary but it was mighty long "temporary" and thousands had to have financial aid. Many were the schemes resorted to by men with families to support in order to raise sufficient funds to carry on until this "normalcy" thing the speech-makers talked about, should occur. But after a man had borrowed all he could and strained his credit until it cried out with pain, he got to the end of his rope. There was a lot of hardship and in some instances real suffering. But there was sunshine in the family which had put by part of its income each week or month in Government Savings Securities, consisting of War Savings Stamps, Thrift Stamps and Savings Certificates. They had loaned this money to Uncle Sam in the war period and that same dependable old Uncle Sam had kept it safe from theft or other loss until they called for it. He didn't ask any questions about what was to be done with the money either, just paid it, which by the way is the best kind of "Thank you" for a loan.

During the past few years he has paid back to savings investors in the Ninth district over $20,000,000 with interest from the time the money was invested and he is still doing it and will continue to do it as long as you want him to. At the same time he is selling Savings Securities from the 25c and $1 Thrift Stamps up to the $5 War Savings Stamp and $25, $100 and $1,000 Savings Certificates, to hundreds of smart people in the Ninth District who know a good thing when they see it. Those people have found that the Treasury Department securities are all and more than modest old Uncle Sam claimed for them. They have discovered the great truth that we, as a nation, shall get back to a sound basis when he have asked ourselves—laborer, artisan, craftsman, farmer, professional man and capitalist alike—not what we can spend, if even moderate indulgence in luxuries and leakage in waste are granted, but what we can save and do without.

We can't continue to measure by what we want rather than by what we need and our great national weakness is that each of us seems to believe he or she is the exception to this rule. Let's face the facts with a full knowledge of their importance, but let's be happy about it—let's not go around with a long face and talk "crop failures" and "no work" for that kind of propaganda never eased a credit strain. Of course, we cannot kid ourselves into thinking there is a crop where there's a failure nor can we "wish" our lost jobs back—but there is a crop in much of the Ninth District and there are thousands of good jobs filled right now with capable men and women who are saving money. This is not a case of "Don't spend money"—far from it, but it is a case of "Don't blow money"—and invest some of what you save in Savings Securities of the United States Government.

AMERICAN RELIEF FOR RUSSIA

The wheels of America's great relief machine have started revolving to give food to the starving millions of Soviet Russia. Ships are on their way from New York, Hamburg and Danzig. The first delegation entering the famine zone is in charge of Philip Carroll of Portland, Oregon.

The American Relief Administration will not carry the Stars and Stripes into Soviet Russia. In most of the countries aided by the relief administration the American flag has appeared on posters and flown from warehouses and kitchens and on the automobiles used, but the Russo-

American political situation is considered so delicate, by the relief administration officials, that even this official symbol of the United States will be missing by orders of the relief administration headquarters. It is thought that it will require $50,000,000 to give adequate help to the famine-stricken.

FARMERS' PRICES IMPORTANT

It now seems to be the consensus of opinion among business experts that the coming rebound in business which is to bring better times for everybody must be preceded by a substantial increase in grain prices. It is also the general belief that there will be no permanent good in anything until the agricultural industry is put on a basis where adequate returns and compensation will reward farmers for their work, plus their investment. As many see it, if prices advance to a level where farmers can make a little on their crops, business generally would pick up and the final readjustment of prices to peace time levels and conditions would follow later.

DOUGHBOYS IN GERMANY TO RETURN

Now that the peace treaty has been signed, it is thought the American troops will be brought home from the Rhine valley soon, perhaps even before the treaty is ratified formally by both nations. It is known that President Harding wishes to withdraw the troops as soon as possible, as he feels that the German people should not be burdened longer with the cost of supporting the army of occupation, and should be permitted now to go forward unfettered as much as possible to produce and pay their enormous war debts. There are now, we believe, 15,000 American troops in Germany.

FINANCING AGRICULTURAL PRODUCTS

The recent recommendation of the President to Congress for the enlargement of the powers of the War Finance Corporation in connection with the financing of agricultural products, will, if adopted, mean adequate financing of the 1921 harvests for the purpose of foreign and domestic trade. Under the powers already possessed by the War Finance Corporation, it has either advanced, or is negotiating advances in the aggregate sum of $63,471,000, approximately 98 per cent of which covers agricultural commodities.

Minnesota suffers a loss in revenue as a result of declines in railroad gross earnings during the first half of 1921 of approximately $841,000 as compared with the gross earnings in netting the state $3,668,709.60 for the first half of 1920. The tax for the first half of 1921 will be approximately $3,026,863.44.

The St. Louis Times thinks "there is every reason to believe that, should the entertaining Mr. Franklin D. Roosevelt get the million dollars he is seeking as a 'Woodrow Wilson foundation,' its first award for 'peace through justice' achievements will go to Warren Gamaliel Harding."

The investigation into the New York City government under the Tammany administration is uncovering a story of extravagance and official incompetence very much like the record of the regime at Washington from which the country was relieved on March 4th.

An entire page of the National Republican of Aug. 27 is given up to an interesting biographical sketch, with portrait, of Honorable Harold Knutson, member of Congress from the Sixth Minnesota district, and Republican "whip" of the House of Representatives. The article is by H. O. Bishop.

The number of government employees in Washington was down to 76,514 persons on Aug. 1, a reduction of 41,246 since the Armistice. Despite this increase the present total is more than double what it was in pre-war days.

It is thought that American and German business firms will resume peace-time relations immediately without waiting for ratification of the treaty. Commercial treaties will probably be negotiated and consular service reconstructed in a short time.

The Bismarck Tribune has "said something" in the following terse sentence: "When everybody takes his loss and gets down to sane level, business will revive."

Minnesota Will Have Air Service
St. Paul, Aug. 30.—Minnesota will soon have thirteen airplanes for its Observation Squadron, according to Major Ray Miller, commander.

The War Department has authorized an order to the effect that the Minnesota aviation unit shall receive the first thirteen planes available, the unit having been the first recognized by the department.

Lieut.-Col. W. C. Garis, assistant adjutant-general, whose resignation becomes effective September 16, was the father of Minnesota's aviation unit.

The unit has been authorized to recruit 31 officers and 132 men. The quota is almost filled.

WOMAN CROSSES ATLANTIC IN 21 TON YACHT

By ALFRED J. WEST,
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
Cowes, Isle of Wight. (By Mail.)—It was love of adventure on the high seas and the determination to share the discomforts and perils of her husband that prompted Mrs. Kelley, wife of John B. Kelley, of New York, to accompany him on a voyage from New London, Conn., to Cowes in the 21-ton auxiliary motor-schooner Diablosse, which made the trip in thirty-three days.

It is doubtful whether any woman has ventured to cross the Atlantic in such a tiny craft as Diablosse, which, lying at moorings near the Fountain Pier, proudly flying the Stars and Stripes at the stern, has been the cynosure of all the eyes of yachting people and the mariners who have a great admiration for the adventurous spirits of the sea.

Mrs. Kelley, a frail, handsome, little woman of girlish appearance, and extremely retiring disposition, said in an interview that she not only enjoyed the trip, but was absolutely comfortable all the time.

"I did all the cooking and things of that sort," she said. "That was, at times, a bit difficult, because after a storm—and we had ten days of gale to start with—the crew would come down below drenched, very cold and hungry, and I had to provide them with food and dry clothes."

"I used coal for the stove, and frequently the seas would break over us and put out the fire and sweep everything away."

"It was quite exciting at times, but how I enjoyed it; and when we sighted land, for which I was sorry, I wanted to turn back and have it all over again."

"I simply love the sea. I took my turn at the wheel while the men attended to the sails in the stormy weather. I have never been seasick, and the voyage has done me a world of good."

"I made my first trip across the Atlantic when a girl of nine, and have been across in steamers several times since, staying in London and Scotland."

"It is a lovely life cruising at sea. You feel as if you are in a kingdom of your own, and nothing to worry about as long as the boat keeps afloat."

Mr. and Mrs. Kelley made the trip across specially to see the yacht races for the British-America cup, and to attend the famous Cowes regatta.

"Sins of Rosanne"

AMUSEMENTS

Ethel Clayton
If the Queen of Sheba should drop into the New Park theatre today she'd probably turn green with jealousy.

Ethel Clayton is playing there in the thrillingest, most unusual picture we remember seeing in many moons, and in the big scene she wears a gown made of beads, or something, that fairly out-Shebas Sheba. The picture is "Sins of Rosanne", and Mrs. Clayton is costumed to represent the famous queen at a lawn fete held in Kimberly, near the famous diamond mines. Up to this time, according to the story she has been playing the role of a sort of feminine Jekyll and Hyde—outwardly the pretty, but otherwise quite ordinary daughter of an English widow; but inwardly torn with a mad craving for bright stones which she received from a native Malay witch doctor when she was an infant.

The result is a story of thrills, mystery, and, in the end, love. The plot is novel, but Miss Clayton's earnest interpretation of the fascinating heroine makes her strange experiences seem real. Jack Holt is excellent in the leading male role, and Fred Malatesta is a suave, Machiavellian villain. Tom Forman directed the picture, which is adapted from a novelette by Cynthia Stockley and is showing for the last time today.

At the Lyceum

Most persons go to the theater to be amused. The human race likes to laugh and seeks entertainment for the purpose of forgetting the cares and worries of the day. While a certain number enjoy tragedy and heavy productions, they also find pleasure in a well acted comedy. "Clover's Rebellion" with Anita Stewart is one of the few motion picture productions that please everybody. It is filled with clever comedy, has a touch of melodrama, introduces a baffling mystery, develops a love interest and tells a fascinating story. Showing at the Lyceum last time tonight.

EARTHQUAKE AT END OF FILM PRODUCTION

The destruction of an Italian village street furnished the final scenes for "The Hope," great spectacular melodrama, showing Wednesday and Thursday at the Lyceum theatre.

"The Hope" is an all-star production with Jack Mulhall, Ruth Stonehouse, Marguerite de la Motte and Frank Elliott heading the cast.

The earthquake staged at the sixty-five acre Metro Park, in the San Fernando Valley was only one of the big scenes staged for "The Hope," a battle in Khyber Pass is another event that makes this famous production a thriller.

Clyde Coker (Charlie Chaplin's) rival, will also be seen at the Lyceum Wednesday and Thursday in his latest comedy "The Sailor."

"Nobody," Mystery Play, Coming to the New Park

"Nobody," the new photoplay, is a mystery story written and directed by Roland West and possessing an element of suspense that should go long in all these "guess me" dramas.

It has a plot that surrounds the murder of a wealthy New York society leader. Suspicion falls upon practically every member of the cast, culminating in a fine climax and an ending that is both unusual and logical. This ending is quite the best part of the film—a fearless, away-from-the-usual denouement.

MIGHTY GOOD ADVICE

When the present period of business depression, post-war readjustment or whatever you want to call it, struck the country there were many residents of the Ninth Federal Reserve District, who found themselves in a pretty tight fix. No jobs, no market for farm produce, no reduction in living costs. This looked to be temporary but it was mighty long "temporary" and thousands had to have financial aid. Many were the schemes resorted to by men with families to support in order to raise sufficient funds to carry on until this "normalcy," thing the speech-makers talked about, should occur. But after a man had borrowed all he could and strained his credit until it cried out with pain, he got to the end of his rope. There was a lot of hardship and in some instances real suffering. But there was sunshine in the family which had put by part of its income each week or month in Government Savings Securities, consisting of War Savings Stamps, Thrift Stamps and Savings Certificates. They had loaned this money to Uncle Sam in the war period and that same dependable old Uncle Sam had kept it safe from theft or other loss until they called for it. He didn't ask any questions about what was to be done with the money either, just paid it, which by the way is the best kind of "Thank you" for a loan.

During the past few years he has paid back to savings investors in the Ninth district over $20,000,000 with interest from the time the money was invested and he is still doing it and will continue to do it as long as you want him to. At the same time he is selling Savings Securities from the 25c and $1 Thrift Stamps up to the $5 War Savings Stamp and $25, $100 and $1,000 Savings Certificates, to hundreds of smart people in the Ninth District who know a good thing when they see it. Those people have found that the Treasury Department securities are all and more than modest old Uncle Sam claimed for them. They have discovered the great truth that we, as a nation, shall get back to a sound basis when he have asked ourselves—laborer, artisan, craftsman, farmer, professional man and capitalist alike—not what we can spend, if even moderate indulgence in luxuries and leakage in waste are granted, but what we can save and do without.

We can't continue to measure by what we want rather than by what we need and our great national weakness is that each of us seems to believe he or she is the exception to this rule. Let's face the facts with a full knowledge of their importance, but let's be happy about it—let's not go around with a long face and talk "crop failures" and "no work" for that kind of propaganda never eased a credit strain. Of course, we cannot kid ourselves into thinking there is a crop where there's a failure nor can we "wish" our lost jobs back—but there is a crop in much of the Ninth District and there are thousands of good jobs filled right now with capable men and women who are saving money. This is not a case of "Don't spend money"—far from it, but it is a case of "Don't blow money"—and invest some of what you save in Savings Securities of the United States Government.

AMERICAN RELIEF FOR RUSSIA

The wheels of America's great relief machine have started revolving to give food to the starving millions of Soviet Russia. Ships are on their way from New York, Hamburg and Danzig. The first delegation entering the famine zone is in charge of Philip Carroll of Portland, Oregon.

The American Relief Administration will not carry the Stars and Stripes into Soviet Russia. In most of the countries aided by the relief administration the American flag has appeared on posters and flown from warehouses and kitchens and on the automobiles used, but the Russo-

American political situation is considered so delicate, by the relief administration officials, that even this official symbol of the United States will be missing by orders of the relief administration headquarters. It is thought that it will require $50,000,000 to give adequate help to the famine-stricken.

FARMERS' PRICES IMPORTANT

It now seems to be the consensus of opinion among business experts that the coming rebound in business which is to bring better times for everybody must be preceded by a substantial increase in grain prices. It is also the general belief that there will be no permanent good in anything until the agricultural industry is put on a basis where adequate returns and compensation will reward farmers for their work, plus their investment. As many see it, if prices advance to a level where farmers can make a little on their crops, business generally would pick up and the final readjustment of prices to peace time levels and conditions would follow later.

DOUGHBOYS IN GERMANY TO RETURN

Now that the peace treaty has been signed, it is thought the American troops will be brought home from the Rhine valley soon, perhaps even before the treaty is ratified formally by both nations. It is known that President Harding wishes to withdraw the troops as soon as possible, as he feels that the German people should not be burdened longer with the cost of supporting the army of occupation, and should be permitted now to go forward unfettered as much as possible to produce and pay their enormous war debts. There are now, we believe, 15,000 American troops in Germany.

FINANCING AGRICULTURAL PRODUCTS

The recent recommendation of the President to Congress for the enlargement of the powers of the War Finance Corporation in connection with the financing of agricultural products, will, if adopted, mean adequate financing of the 1921 harvests for the purpose of foreign and domestic trade. Under the powers already possessed by the War Finance Corporation, it has either advanced, or is negotiating advances in the aggregate sum of $63,471,000, approximately 98 per cent of which covers agricultural commodities.

Minnesota suffers a loss in revenue as a result of declines in railroad gross earnings during the first half of 1921 of approximately $841,000 as compared with the gross earnings in netting the state $3,668,709.60 for the first half of 1920. The tax for the first half of 1921 will be approximately $3,026,863.44.

The St. Louis Times thinks "there is every reason to believe that, should the entertaining Mr. Franklin D. Roosevelt get the million dollars he is seeking as a 'Woodrow Wilson foundation,' its first award for 'peace through justice' achievements will go to Warren Gamaliel Harding."

The investigation into the New York City government under the Tammany administration is uncovering a story of extravagance and official incompetence very much like the record of the regime at Washington from which the country was relieved on March 4th.

An entire page of the National Republican of Aug. 27 is given up to an interesting biographical sketch, with portrait, of Honorable Harold Knutson, member of Congress from the Sixth Minnesota district, and Republican "whip" of the House of Representatives. The article is by H. O. Bishop.

The number of government employees in Washington was down to 76,514 persons on Aug. 1, a reduction of 41,246 since the Armistice. Despite this increase the present total is more than double what it was in pre-war days.

It is thought that American and German business firms will resume peace-time relations immediately without waiting for ratification of the treaty. Commercial treaties will probably be negotiated and consular service reconstructed in a short time.

The Bismarck Tribune has "said something" in the following terse sentence: "When everybody takes his loss and gets down to sane level, business will revive."

NORTHWEST NEWS

Housing Commission Makes Record
Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 30.—Sixty-two homes already occupied, 177 houses started and 194 loans passed is the record so far of the Winnipeg housing commission.

The city pledges the credit of home builders. Loan companies have been reluctant to take unsecured loans for home building, so the city went into the housing shortage with a view to alleviating conditions.

Minnesota Will Have Air Service
St. Paul, Aug. 30.—Minnesota will soon have thirteen airplanes for its Observation Squadron, according to Major Ray Miller, commander.

The War Department has authorized an order to the effect that the Minnesota aviation unit shall receive the first thirteen planes available, the unit having been the first recognized by the department.

Lieut.-Col. W. C. Garis, assistant adjutant-general, whose resignation becomes effective September 16, was the father of Minnesota's aviation unit.

The unit has been authorized to recruit 31 officers and 132 men. The quota is almost filled.

Moonshiners in Court

Fargo, Aug. 30.—It was a beautiful day and the moon was shining—that is the moonshine was trickling. Lane Maloney, district prohibition supervisor happened along. The bulldog met him at the gate. The damage is being repaired. Chas. Heney, owner of the dog and moonshine, was in court today.

WOMAN CROSSES ATLANTIC IN 21 TON YACHT

By ALFRED J. WEST,
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

Cowes, Isle of Wight. (By Mail.)—It was love of adventure on the high seas and the determination to share the discomforts and perils of her husband that prompted Mrs. Kelley, wife of John B. Kelley, of New York, to accompany him on a voyage from New London, Conn., to Cowes in the 21-ton auxiliary motor-schooner Diablosse, which made the trip in thirty-three days.

It is doubtful whether any woman has ventured to cross the Atlantic in such a tiny craft as Diablosse, which, lying at moorings near the Fountain Pier, proudly flying the Stars and Stripes at the stern, has been the cynosure of all the eyes of yachting people and the mariners who have a great admiration for the adventurous spirits of the sea.

Mrs. Kelley, a frail, handsome, little woman of girlish appearance, and extremely retiring disposition, said in an interview that she not only enjoyed the trip, but was absolutely comfortable all the time.

"I did all the cooking and things of that sort," she said. "That was, at times, a bit difficult, because after a storm—and we had ten days of gale to start with—the crew would come down below drenched, very cold and hungry, and I had to provide them with food and dry clothes."

"I used coal for the stove, and frequently the seas would break over us and put out the fire and sweep everything away."

"It was quite exciting at times, but how I enjoyed it; and when we sighted land, for which I was sorry, I wanted to turn back and have it all over again."

"I simply love the sea. I took my turn at the wheel while the men attended to the sails in the stormy weather. I have never been seasick, and the voyage has done me a world of good."

"I made my first trip across, the Atlantic when a girl of nine, and have been across in steamers several times since, staying in London and Scotland."

"It is a lovely life cruising at sea. You feel as if you are in a kingdom of your own, and nothing to worry about as long as the boat keeps afloat."

Mr. and Mrs. Kelley made the trip across specially to see the yacht races for the British-America cup, and to attend the famous Cowes regatta.

"Sins of Rosanne"

AMUSEMENTS

Ethel Clayton

If the Queen of Sheba should drop into the New Park theatre today she'd probably turn green with jealousy.

Ethel Clayton is playing there in the thrillingest, most unusual picture we remember seeing in many moons, and in the big scene she wears a gown made of beads, or something, that fairly out-Shebas Sheba. The picture is "Sins of Rosanne", and Miss Clayton is costumed to represent the famous queen at a lawn fete held in Kimberly, near the famous diamond mines. Up to this time, according to the story she has been playing the role of a sort of feminine Jekyll and Hyde—outwardly the pretty, but otherwise quite ordinary daughter of an English widow; but inwardly torn with a mad craving for bright stones which she received from a native Malay witch doctor when she was an infant.

The result is a story of thrills, mystery, and, in the end, love. The plot is novel, but Miss Clayton's earnest interpretation of the fascinating heroine makes her strange experiences seem real. Jack Holt is excellent in the leading male role, and Fred Malatesta is a suave, Machiavellian villain. Tom Porman directed the picture, which is adapted from a novelette by Cynthia Stockley and is showing for the last time today.

At the Lyceum

Most persons go to the theater to be amused. The human race likes to laugh and seeks entertainment for the purpose of forgetting the cares and worries of the day. While a certain number enjoy tragedy and heavy productions, they also find pleasure in a well acted comedy. "Clover's Rebellion" with Anita Stewart is one of the few motion picture productions that please everybody. It is filled with clever comedy, has a touch of melodrama, introduces a baffling mystery, develops a love interest and tells a fascinating story. Showing at the Lyceum last time tonight.

EARTHQUAKE AT END OF FILM PRODUCTION

The destruction of an Italian village street furnished the final scenes for "The Hope," great spectacular melodrama, showing Wednesday and Thursday at the Lyceum theatre.

"The Hope" is an all-star production with Jack Mulhall, Ruth Stonehouse, Marguerite de la Motte and Frank Elliott heading the cast.

The earthquake staged at the sixty-five acre Metro Park, in the San Fernando Valley was only one of the big scenes staged for "The Hope," a battle in Khyber Pass is another event that makes this famous production a thriller.

Clyde Cook (Charlie Chaplin's) rival, will also be seen at the Lyceum Wednesday and Thursday in his latest comedy "The Sailor."

"Nobody," Mystery Play, Coming to the New Park

"Nobody," the new photoplay, is a mystery story written and directed by Roland West and possessing an element of suspense that should go long in all these "guess me" dramas.

It has a plot that surrounds the murder of a wealthy New York society leader. Suspicion falls upon practically every member of the cast, culminating in a fine climax and an ending that is both unusual and logical. This ending is quite the best part of the film—a fearless, away-from-the-usual denouement.

WONDERFUL ROADS ON "ITASCA TRAIL"

Itasca Park Highway Runs in Air Line from Iowa to the State Park Beautiful Scenery

LINE IS A WELL MARKED ONE

At Southern End Carries State Highway No. 4 Mark Connecting With Iowa Primary Highway No. 4

A highway blessed with wonderful roads and beautiful scenery is that of the Itasca Park Highway running from Iowa to the park. The Dispatch man had a week's vacation and motored early on a Sunday morning to Little Falls, thence traveled west to Long Prairie where he connected with the Itasca Park Highway and motored southward passing through Sauk Center, etc. At Long Prairie Wm. Nelson, former secretary of the Brainerd water and light board, is connected with the power company there and has a pretty home.

From Sauk Center the highway passed through small inland towns of El Rosa, Belgrade, etc. As one entered the vicinity of Wilmar one passed the beautiful lake cottages near Spicer, etc., golf clubs and country clubs. The roads are as smooth as a table. The lake homes are magnificent ones.

From Wilmar south is another fine run to Olivia where a stop was made for supper. Then came another straight run to Morton and hills to be descended at that town and again a rise to highlands when coming near Redwood Falls. At Redwood Falls O. H. Johnson, formerly of the Ramsey house, is conducting the Ramsey house. In this city there is a beautiful state park with deer and elk.

From Redwood Falls to Windom, there is a forty mile stretch of gravelled roads pronounced by Barney Oldfield as the best road of its kind in the whole United States. It's like a table the whole way with only three small curves in the entire stretch. The first day's run made by the Dispatch man was Brainerd to Windom and that was considered enough for the day, also taking into consideration the fact that the last twenty miles was made in a rain.

Windom was left at 10 o'clock next day and then six miles out of town one gained the first experience in wet gumbo. For 16 miles the car poked along in two feet of mud. The Case four had power and negotiated the stretch without boiling over the radiator and the wheels carried no chains. Jackson was reached and then on through Spirit Lake, Spencer and Sioux Rapids, Iowa, the going was excellent.

The southern part of the Itasca Park Highway is marked with the Minnesota No. 4 highway number and by a coincidence it connects at the state line boundary with Iowa Primary Road No. 4. The Minnesota marking is especially good. It indicates right or left curves 300 feet from the curve. The Iowa marker also indicates straight road and occurrence of any cross road.

At Orleans, Iowa, the township people have a sign up "Speed Limit 10 Miles an Hour". As the mud was deep for a quarter of a mile, no one exceeded the speed limit there.

The trick in turning out in wet gumbo road is to do it quickly. The front truck is hopped out and one run given the approaching car. The rear end is skidded out and back. If one tries to turn out slowly, the front truck gets out of the rut, and the rear end slews.

The Jensen bonanza farm of 250 acres in the heart of the corn belt was visited. There Theodore Jensen had gained first prizes in corn at the county fair, winning from a competitor who had gained first prizes the past 21 years. The Jensen's raise corn and hogs. Iowa primary road No. 4 passes near them.

Throughout the tour one noticed the air of prosperity literally breathed by every town on the route. Every city is well kept in appearance. Cement paved streets are the rule. Street intersection markers in some cases take the shape of cement urns carrying flowers.

Spencer, Iowa, is the prettiest town on the route. It has large well paved streets. In the residence section the boulevard is literally a large flower garden, well kept in every particular. One sees at a moment that every resident of Spencer takes pride in his home town. The cement bridge at Spencer is a marvel of architectural beauty.

On the way home a visit was made at Terrace Park with relatives and the beautiful lakes of that vicinity inspected. At Templar Park is a huge hotel of concrete with red tiled roof. Arnold's park on the lake carries all kinds of amusement devices from coaster railroads to roller rinks. Dance pavilions are numerous. Fishing, boating and bathing are excellent. The lakes are lined with cottages and thousands make their homes there in summer.

On the way home a side trip was made from Wilmar to St. Cloud and the Elks state convention visited. In spite of its being convention time, excellent rooms were secured from Mrs. A. McGregor near the normal school.

The Barnum & Bailey and Ringling Brothers circus was visited Friday evening. Tours were made about St. Cloud. Brainerd lodge had about a hundred Elks and their families at the convention. The utmost courtesy and good fellowship was shown.

When the Dispatch man and his party arrived at the Elks' home and it seemed doubtful about getting rooms, a St. Paul Elk offered them berths in the St. Paul lodge special train.

On Saturday a run was made along the west bank of the Mississippi to the Rice bridge and then by detour to Royalton. From Royalton to Little Falls and for a distance out of Little Falls rocks are beginning to show in the roadway and fast time cannot be made if one has any regard for his tires. The going is good and no exception can be taken to the roadway.

On Saturday evening a 75 mile run was made to Akeley and a bass lake in that vicinity. Sunday evening Brainerd was reached and the car took a rest in the garage.

Throughout the whole trip of about 900 miles 60 cents was spent on the car. This included 10c for examination of brakes and grease at Sioux Rapids and 50c for adjusting the ammeter of the battery.

One tire with 15 blisters and a section of fabric exposed blew up at Belgrade and no time was lost as lunch was being eaten while tires were changed. At Wilmar an old tire blew through the rim and its career was over. From thence on the new spares took their situation and there was no more tire trouble. During the heat of the day speed was maintained at 25 miles an hour and short rests taken every 30 miles. On a long day's run the battery was frequently examined so the water did not run low. One finds Willard stations all along the route and at Spencer, Iowa, an exceptionally good electrical expert.

The garages are courtesy personified. They and the filling stations are mines of information on roads, etc. The route map used was an exceptionally comprehensive one compiled by the Rand McNally people for the F. W. VanSant Company of Minneapolis and was secured gratis.

The tourist parks line the highway. Each town vies with the other in having a beautiful park. Windom has its park in the fairgrounds. Redwood Falls houses it in the beauties of the state park. Sioux Rapids, Iowa, has a pretty location in the heart of town and the entrance is an artistic arched way. Tourists everywhere are treated with consideration. Restaurant and hotel charges all along the route are moderate.

For instance at Redwood Falls one gained at a restaurant an excellent meal for only 40 cents. Hotels charged 50c.

The road south of Redwood Falls is being gravelled in sections. At night red lights notified one where gravel was being deposited in the center of highways. Watchmen were at stations. When the gravel was distributed over the road it was not laid so deep as to impede travel, one could make 20 miles an hour on high getting through the gravelled stretch. North of Wilmar one also encountered a short gravelled stretch that was quickly negotiated.

In town and countryside one found not a single grouch, not a single gloomy viewed man. "This is a great country, it's full of opportunities. Things are getting better every day", was the general consensus of opinion expressed.

MANGANESE TARIFF IMPERATIVE--POTTS

Deerwood Mining Man Predicts Shut Down and Huge Losses if Import Tax is Cut

APPEALS TO THE SENATE

George H. Crosby Also Addressed Senate Committee on Cuyuna Iron Range Situation

Western mining operators appeared before the Senate finance committee in Washington to press claims for tariff protection on manganese, one of the steel alloys on which representatives of steel interests urged low import rates. Both George H. Crosby of Duluth, and C. W. Potts of Deerwood, Minn., mining men, declared their mines would be forced to close, unless import duties were levied on their product.

Representatives of the steel industry, in urging lower duties on ferro alloys, Mr. Crosby said, had asserted there was not a worth while supply of manganese ore in this country, whereas, there was, he added, 35,000,000 tons of manganese-bearing ore in the Cuyuna Range alone. Under wartime stimulus, he said, about $7,000,000 was spent in the development of thirty-four mines in that range, but lack of protection had resulted in all but two being closed.

"Even when conditions become normal again," Mr. Crosby said, "those mines cannot be re-opened without a tariff."

Mr. Potts figured his investment at about three-quarters of a million and said he did not believe he could salvage much of it without a tariff. Surveys of the manganese-bearing ores in this country, as published by the tariff commission, he added, were based on "obsolete investigations."

To Whom This May Concern

This is to say that any statement reported to have come from me, to some parties in Brainerd, that George J. Johnson had beaten me out of $700.00 are false, and without foundation, as I had made no such statement whatever. 7543 E. E. BACKLUND.

ELK IS LOST

Relatives Seeking George L. Bosman, Prominent Attorney of Portsmouth, Virginia

Elks of the country have been notified of the disappearance of George L. Bosman, holding membership card No. 648. He is a prominent attorney of Portsmouth, Virginia, and has been missing since July 4, 1921.

He is 5 feet 8 3-4 inches in height, weighs 135 pounds, is 28 years old, has brown hair, deep set hazel eyes, student type, slightly stooping shoulders. A particular feature when talking is running his hand through his hair. His hair is brushed back and he is an incessant talker.

A lunacy warrant has been issued for his apprehension, writes Exalted Ruler A. A. Williams of Portsmouth, Virginia lodge No. 82, and if found, he should be detained and the lodge wired at its expense.

WONDERFUL ROADS ON "ITASCA TRAIL"

Itasca Park Highway Runs in Air
Line from Iowa to the State Park
Beautiful Scenery

LINE IS A WELL MARKED ONE

At Southern End Carries State Highway No. 4 Mark Connecting With Iowa Primary Highway No. 4

A highway blessed with wonderful roads and beautiful scenery is that of the Itasca Park Highway running from Iowa to the park. The Dispatch man had a week's vacation and motored early on a Sunday morning to Little Falls, thence traveled west to Long Prairie where he connected with the Itasca Park Highway and motored southward passing through Sauk Center, etc. At Long Prairie Wm. Nelson, former secretary of the Brainerd water and light board, is connected with the power company there and has a pretty home.

From Sauk Center the highway passed through small inland towns of El Rosa, Belgrade, etc. As one entered the vicinity of Wilmar one passed the beautiful lake cottages near Spicer, etc., golf clubs and country clubs. The roads are as smooth as a table. The lake homes are magnificent ones.

From Wilmar south is another fine run to Olivia where a stop was made for supper. Then came another straight run to Morton and hills to be descended at that town and again a rise to highlands when coming near Redwood Falls. At Redwood Falls O. H. Johnson, formerly of the Ramsey, is conducting the Ramsey house. In this city there is a beautiful state park with deer and elk.

From Redwood Falls to Windom, there is a forty mile stretch of gravelled roads pronounced by Barney Oldfield as the best road of its kind in the whole United States. It's like a table the whole way with only three small curves in the entire stretch. The first day's run made by the Dispatch man was Brainerd to Windom and that was considered enough for the day, also taking into consideration the fact that the last twenty miles was made in a rain.

Windom was left at 10 o'clock next day and then six miles out of town one gained the first experience in wet gumbo. For 16 miles the car poked along in two feet of mud. The Case four had power and negotiated the stretch without boiling over the radiator and the wheels carried no chains. Jackson was reached and then on through Spirit Lake, Spencer and Sioux Rapids, Iowa, the going was excellent.

The southern part of the Itasca Park Highway is marked with the Minnesota No. 4 highway number and by a coincidence it connects at the state line boundary with Iowa Primary Road No. 4. The Minnesota marking is especially good. It indicates right or left curves 300 feet from the curve. The Iowa marker also indicates straight road and occurrence of any cross road.

At Orleans, Iowa, the township people have a sign up "Speed Limit 10 Miles an Hour". As the mud was deep for a quarter of a mile, no one exceeded the speed limit there.

The trick in turning out in wet gumbo road is to do it quickly. The front truck is hopped out and one run given the approaching car. The rear end is skidded out and back. If one tries to turn out slowly, the front truck gets out of the rut, and the rear end slews.

The Jensen bonanza farm of 250 acres in the heart of the corn belt was visited. There Theodore Jensen had gained first prizes in corn at the county fair, winning from a competitor who had gained first prizes the past 21 years. The Jensen's raise corn and hogs. Iowa primary road No. 4 passes near them.

Throughout the tour one noticed the air of prosperity literally breathed by every town on the route. Every city is well kept in appearance. Cement paved streets are the rule. Street intersection markers in some cases take the shape of cement urns carrying flowers.

Spencer, Iowa, is the prettiest town on the route. It has large well paved streets. In the residence section the boulevard is literally a large flower garden, well kept in every particular. One sees at a moment that every resident of Spencer takes pride in his home town. The cement bridge at Spencer is a marvel of architectural beauty.

On the way home a visit was made at Terrace Park with relatives and the beautiful lakes of that vicinity inspected. At Templar Park is a huge hotel of concrete with red tiled roof. Arnold's park on the lake carries all kinds of amusement devices from coaster railroads to roller rinks. Dance pavilions are numerous. Fishing, boating and bathing are excellent. The lakes are lined with cottages and thousands make their homes there in summer.

On the way home a side trip was made from Wilmar to St. Cloud and the Elks state convention visited. In spite of its being convention time, excellent rooms were secured from Mrs. A. McGregor near the normal school.

The Barnum & Bailey and Ringling Brothers circus was visited Friday evening. Tours were made about St. Cloud. Brainerd lodge had about a hundred Elks and their families at the convention. The utmost courtesy and good fellowship was shown.

When the Dispatch man and his party arrived at the Elks' home and it seemed doubtful about getting rooms, a St. Paul Elk offered them berths in the St. Paul lodge special train.

On Saturday a run was made along the west bank of the Mississippi to the Rice bridge and then by detour to Royalton. From Royalton to Little Falls and for a distance out of Little Falls rocks are beginning to show in the roadway and fast time cannot be made if one has any regard for his tires. The going is good and no exception can be taken to the roadway.

On Saturday evening a 75 mile run was made to Akeley and a bass lake in that vicinity. Sunday evening Brainerd was reached and the car took a rest in the garage.

Throughout the whole trip of about 900 miles 60 cents was spent on the car. This included 10c for examination of brakes and grease at Sioux Rapids and 50c for adjusting the ammeter of the battery.

One tire with 15 blisters and a section of fabric exposed blew up at Belgrade and no time was lost as lunch was being eaten while tires were changed. At Wilmar an old tire blew through the rim and its career was over. From thence on the new tires took their situation and there was no more tire trouble. During the heat of the day speed was maintained at 25 miles an hour and short rests taken every 30 miles. On a long day's run the battery was frequently examined so the water did not run low. One finds Willard stations all along the route and at Spencer, Iowa, an exceptionally good electrical expert.

The garages are courtesy personified. They and the filling stations are mines of information on roads, etc. The route map used was an exceptionally comprehensive one compiled by the Rand McNally people for the F. W. VanSant Company of Minneapolis and was secured gratis.

The tourist parks line the highway. Each town vies with the other in having a beautiful park. Windom has its park in the fairgrounds. Redwood Falls houses it in the beauties of the state park. Sioux Rapids, Iowa, has a pretty location in the heart of town and the entrance is an artistic arched way. Tourists everywhere are treated with consideration. Restaurant and hotel charges all along the route are moderate.

For instance at Redwood Falls one gained at a restaurant an excellent meal for only 40 cents. Hotels charged 50c.

The road south of Redwood Falls is being gravelled in sections. At night red lights notified one where gravel was being deposited in the center of highways. Watchmen were at stations. When the gravel was distributed over the road it was not laid so deep as to impede travel, one could make 20 miles an hour on high getting through the gravelled stretch. North of Wilmar one also encountered a short gravelled stretch that was quickly negotiated. In town and countryside one found not a single crouch, not a single gloomy viewed man. "This is a great country, it's full of opportunities. Things are getting better every day", was the general consensus of opinion expressed.

MANGANESE TARIFF IMPERATIVE--POTTS

Deerwood Mining Man Predicts Shut Down and Huge Losses if Import Tax is Cut

APPEALS TO THE SENATE

George H. Crosby Also Addressed
Senate Committee on Cuyuna
Iron Range Situation

Western mining operators appeared before the Senate finance committee in Washington to press claims for tariff protection on manganese, one of the steel alloys on which representatives of steel interests urged low import rates. Both George H. Crosby of Duluth, and C. W. Potts of Deerwood, Minn., mining men, declared their mines would be forced to close, unless import duties were levied on their product.

Representatives of the steel industry, in urging lower duties on ferro alloys, Mr. Crosby said, had asserted there was not a worth while supply of manganese ore in this country, whereas, there was, he added, 36,000,000 tons of manganese-bearing ore in the Cuyuna Range alone. Under wartime stimulus, he said, about $7,000,000 was spent in the development of thirty-four mines in that range, but lack of protection had resulted in all but two being closed.

"Even when conditions become normal again," Mr. Crosby said, "those mines cannot be re-opened without a tariff."

Mr. Potts figured his investment at about three-quarters of a million and said he did not believe he could salvage much of it without a tariff. Surveys of the manganese-bearing ores in this country, as published by the tariff commission, he added, were based on "obsolete investigations."

To Whom This May Concern

PLANS AFRICAN POWER TO RUN EUROPE'S MILLS

Brussels. (By Mail to United Press.)—Transmission of sufficient motive power from Africa to drive all the trains, light all the towns, and run all the factories of Europe is the aim of a scheme described here by the Belgian engineer, F. Anderheggen, in the "National Belge."

The Congo River, in Africa, said the originator of the plan, discharges at least 80,000 cubic meters of water per second, from its reservoir at Stanley Pool, over the Livingstone Falls to the sea outlet at Boma and Matadi.

Two hundred million horsepower is thus wasted, said Mr. Anderheggen, who suggested that this vast mass of water-force should be carried through pipes under high pressure into electric generators in the Lower Congo. Thence in the form of high tension electric current, this vast power would be sent to Europe, along the Atlantic coast, through Senegal and Morocco, and beneath the straits of Gibraltar.

Carried over a distance of some six thousand kilometers, the power originally available at the source would suffer a loss of fifty per cent; but enough would still remain for the haulage, lighting and factory power requirements of Europe, he asserted.

This scheme, says its daring originator, is no more utopian than the Panama Canal scheme. First, there is plenty of native labor available in the Congo. Second, the cement, iron, copper and other requirements are no more difficult to obtain for this purpose than for that of railway building.

Proportionately, the job would cost no more than the railway that is going to link up Leopoldville and Katanga. Less time would be required for this job than was needed for cutting the Panama Canal.

RUSSIAN FLEET TO BLAZE TRADE ROUTE IN ARCTIC

By LLOYD ALLEN,
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

London. (By Mail.)—Under command of the veteran Polar navigator, Captain Otto Sverdrup, a $5,000,000 flotilla of specially equipped ships is ready to start from England, Germany and Sweden into the dangerous, all-but-uncharted water of the Arctic Ocean, carrying cargoes of essential commodities for the people of far away Siberia.

This expedition is being engineered by the All-Russian Co-operative Society of London, better known as Arcos, the purchasing organization of the Russian Soviet Government.

George Solomon, a director of Arcos, in an exclusive interview with the United Press, frankly explained that the hazardous undertaking is an experiment—it may not succeed.

Though every known precaution is being taken in order that the mysterious Northern route into Greater Russia may be opened to commerce of the West.

The ships are carrying a thousand and one different articles of everyday trade in America and Europe. But when the stuff is unloaded in the ice-clogged deltas of the Obi and Yenesei Rivers—far above the Arctic Circle—every article will virtually be worth its weight in gold, because the people of Siberia have been cut off from the Western world for a long time and are in urgent need of supplies of tools, household implements, agricultural machines and so forth.

Returning, the ships will bring out valuable Siberian furs, that are now being shipped to the Obi and Yenesei deltas by agents of the Soviet government at Moscow.

"From the time the boats start, we shall be in daily touch with every one of them by wireless," said Solomon.

"Three boats will leave Liverpool in August. Simultaneously, another ship departs from Gothenburg and two more from Hamburg.

They will rendezvous at Murmansk, where we intend to obtain an ice-breaker ship, which would be invaluable should the flotilla encounter frozen seas.

"Approximately 1,000 workers are now on their way to unload the boats. As a special inducement to these men we are sending on the ships some American preserves, also numerous household articles, such as needles, thread, also sugar and tea.

"The boats should get back to Western Europe in two and a half to three months' time. But they are prepared to remain six months if necessary."

Outward bound, the flotilla will carry 13,000 tons of railroad material, enameled kitchenware, agricultural machinery, axes, padlocks; in fact, a rather general line of hardware.

Included in the list are 3,000 sporting rifles and accompanying ammunition for the fur hunters of Siberia.

ALEXANDER NEARING END OF HIS CAREER

Explanation of Great Flinger's
Failure to Shine.

Worked Too Hard in Endeavor to Win
Opening Game From St. Louis
Cardinals—Case of Nap Rucker
Is Recalled.

Grover Cleveland Alexander, the great right-hander of the Cubs, may be near the end of his rope. It has been published in the East how Alexander had his arm injured by a spectator bumping into the arm as Alex was pulling back to deliver the ball in his warm-up before the opening game on April 13, but those familiar with his case offer another explanation of Alex's failure to shine this year as he did last, when he won ten straight early in the campaign.

The explanation is that Alexander was all to the good on the opening day, or thought he was, and injured himself by trying too hard. He had not won an opening game for three years, which was rather a sore subject with him.

It was after losing the opener last year that he went ahead and won the ten straight. He made it a matter of professional ethics with himself to win the opener this season from the St. Louis Cardinals in St. Louis on the first day of the campaign.

Those who saw the game say Alex whistled the ball to the plate with every ounce of strength he possessed for seven innings, or until something went wrong with his arm and he had to retire. Alex Freeman fished for him, and Chicago won, 5 to 2, but it was a costly victory.

Alexander started again when the Cubs reached Philadelphia and, while the Cubs won and he got credit for the winning, he did not finish. Freeman again finished for him.

Warm weather and careful treatment of the arm may bring Alexander around to his old form, but then they may not.

The fans who remember how suddenly Nap Rucker went on the shelf, and from a big winner in many games he dropped to occasional appearances for a few innings, will have to be shown that a pitcher who has been starring as Alex has since he went to the Phillies from Syracuse in 1911, and won 28 and lost 13 that year, is able to come back after injuring his wing.

THIS WILL INTEREST STOMACH SUFFERERS

Says Indigestion Comes From An Excess of Hydrochloric Acid

A well-known authority states that stomach trouble and indigestion are nearly always due to acidity—acid stomach—and not, as most folks believe, from a lack of digestive juices. He states that an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach retards digestion and starts food fermentation, then our meals sour like garbage in a can, forming acid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. We then get that heavy, lumpy feeling in the chest, we eructate sour food, belch gas, or have heartburn, flatulence, water-brash, or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead, get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jads Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast while it is effervescent, and furthermore, to continue this for one week. While relief follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juices, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salts is used by thousands of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.

PLANS AFRICAN POWER TO RUN EUROPE'S MILLS

Brussels. (By Mail to United Press.)—Transmission of sufficient motive power from Africa to drive all the trains, light all the towns, and run all the factories of Europe is the aim of a scheme described here by the Belgian engineer, F. Anderheggen, in the "National Belge."

The Congo River, in Africa, said the originator of the plan, discharges at least 80,000 cubic meters of water per second, from its reservoir at Stanley Pool, over the Livingstone Falls to the sea outlet at Boma and Matadi.

Two hundred million horsepower is thus wasted, said Mr. Anderheggen, who suggested that this vast mass of water-force should be carried through pipes under high pressure into electric generators in the Lower Congo.

Thence in the form of high tension electric current, this vast power would be sent to Europe, along the Atlantic coast, through Senegal and Morocco, and beneath the straits of Gibraltar.

Carried over a distance of some six thousand kilometers, the power originally available at the source would suffer a loss of fifty per cent; but enough would still remain for the haulage, lighting and factory power requirements of Europe, he asserted.

This scheme, says its daring originator, is no more utopian than the Panama Canal scheme. First, there is plenty of native labor available in the Congo. Second, the cement, iron, copper and other requirements are no more difficult to obtain for this purpose than for that of railway building.

Proportionately, the job would cost no more than the railway that is going to link up Leopoldville and Katanga. Less time would be required for this job than was needed for cutting the Panama Canal.

RUSSIAN FLEET TO BLAZE TRADE ROUTE IN ARCTIC

By LLOYD ALLEN,
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
London. (By Mail.)—Under command of the veteran Polar navigator, Captain Otto Sverdrup, a $5,000,000 flotilla of specially equipped ships is ready to start from England, Germany and Sweden into the dangerous, all-but-uncharted water of the Arctic Ocean, carrying cargoes of essential commodities for the people of far away Siberia.

This expedition is being engineered by the All-Russian Co-operative Society of London, better known as Arcos, the purchasing organization of the Russian Soviet Government.

George Solomon, a director of Arcos, in an exclusive interview with the United Press, frankly explained that the hazardous undertaking is an experiment—it may not succeed.

Though every known precaution is being taken in order that the mysterious Northern route into Greater Russia may be opened to commerce of the West.

The ships are carrying a thousand and one different articles of everyday trade in America and Europe. But when the stuff is unloaded in the ice-clogged deltas of the Obi and Yenesei Rivers—far above the Arctic Circle—every article will virtually be worth its weight in gold, because the people of Siberia have been cut off from the Western world for a long time and are in urgent need of supplies of tools, household implements, agricultural machines and so forth.

Returning, the ships will bring out valuable Siberian furs, that are now being shipped to the Obi and Yenesei deltas by agents of the Soviet government at Moscow.

"From the time the boats start, we shall be in daily touch with every one of them by wireless," said Solomon.

"Three boats will leave Liverpool in August. Simultaneously, another ship departs from Gothenburg and two more from Hamburg.

They will rendezvous at Murmansk, where we intend to obtain an ice-breaker ship, which would be invaluable should the flotilla encounter frozen seas.

"Approximately 1,000 workers are now on their way to unload the boats. As a special inducement to these men we are sending on the ships some American preserves, also numerous household articles, such as needles, thread, also sugar and tea.

"The boats should get back to Western Europe in two and a half to three months' time. But they are prepared to remain six months if necessary."

Outward bound, the flotilla will carry 13,000 tons of railroad material, enameled kitchenware, agricultural machinery, axes, padlocks; in fact, a rather general line of hardware. Included in the list are 3,000 sporting rifles and accompanying ammunition for the fur hunters of Siberia.

ALEXANDER NEARING END OF HIS CAREER

Explanation of Great Flinger's
Failure to Shine.

Worked Too Hard in Endeavor to Win
Opening Game From St. Louis
Cardinals—Case of Nap Rucker
Is Recalled.

Grover Cleveland Alexander, the great right-hander of the Cubs, may be near the end of his rope. It has been published in the East how Alexander had his arm injured by a spectator bumping into the arm as Alex was pulling back to deliver the ball in his warm-up before the opening game on April 13, but those familiar with his case offer another explanation of Alex's failure to shine this year as he did last, when he won ten straight early in the campaign.

The explanation is that Alexander was all to the good on the opening day, or thought he was, and injured himself by trying too hard. He had not won an opening game for three years, which was rather a sore subject with him.

It was after losing the opener last year that he went ahead and won the ten straight. He made it a matter of professional ethics with himself to win the opener this season from the St. Louis Cardinals in St. Louis on the first day of the campaign.

Those who saw the game say Alex whistled the ball to the plate with every ounce of strength he possessed for seven innings, or until something went wrong with his arm and he had to retire. Alex Freeman flushed for him, and Chicago won, 5 to 2, but it was a costly victory.

Alexander started again when the Cubs reached Philadelphia and, while the Cubs won and he got credit for the winning, he did not finish. Freeman again finished for him.

Warm weather and careful treatment of the arm may bring Alexander around to his old form, but then they may not.

The fans who remember how suddenly Nap Rucker went on the shelf, and from a big winner in many games he dropped to occasional appearances for a few innings, will have to be shown that a pitcher who has been starring as Alex has since he went to the Phillies from Syracuse in 1911, and won 28 and lost 13 that year, is able to come back after injuring his wing.

THIS WILL INTEREST STOMACH SUFFERERS

Says Indigestion Comes From An Excess of Hydrochloric Acid

A well-known authority states that stomach trouble and indigestion are nearly always due to acidity—acid stomach—and not, as most folks believe, from a lack of digestive juices. He states that an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach retards digestion and starts food fermentation, then our meals sour like garbage in a can, forming acid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. We then get that heavy, lumpy feeling in the chest, we eructate sour food, belch gas, or have heartburn, flatulence, water-brash, or nausea.

He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead, get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jads Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast while it is effervescent, and furthermore, to continue this for one week. While relief follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juices, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salts is used by thousands of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.
